SATURDAY EVENING, MAR. 29, 1902,

His Debut as an Actor. · Frank J. McIntyre was a newspaper man in Ann Arbor, Mich., before he became an actor. He began as a "cub" reporter while still a student in Michigan university and finally advanced until the editor left him in charge of the paper on one occasion when he took a trip to Detroit.

Two important local items were to be printed, one relating the sad demise of a young man of prominent family the other telling how a traveling sales man had jumped his board bill at a local hotel. "Mac" had to write the headlines for these stories, and, after scratching his head, he evolved "Pass ed Away Quietly" for the obituary story and "Jumped His Board Bill" for the hotel beat. "Mac" was proud of his achievement and, lighting a big cigar, leaned back in his chair and be gan to realize how it feels to be an editor.

The man who "made up" the paper scanned the headings, transposed them and the friends and relatives of the deceased read that he had "Jumped His Board Bill," and the bereaved landlord learned that his late guest had "Passed Away Quietly."-New York

Autumn Haze,

"Autumn haze," says a meteorologic al expert, "is dust composed of the fin- One Person est particles of soil, dead leaves, smoke or ashes from wood fires, salt from ocean spray, the shells or scales from microscopic siliceous diatoms, germs of fungi, spores of ferns, pollen of flow ers, etc. In the still air of damp nights these dust particles settle slowly down and the morning air is comparatively clear. Carlyle's View of Aprons. Carlyle in his "Sartor Resartus" was able to find a deep philosophy in aprons "Aprons are defenses against injury to elemliness, to safety, to modesty sometimes to requery. From the thin em and beatified ghost of an apron which some highest bred housewife ha gracefully fastened on to the thick tanned hide girt around him with thongs, wherein the builder builds and at evening sticks his trowel, or to those jingling sheet iron aprons wherein your otherwise haif naked Vulcan hammer and smelt in their smelt fur nace, is there not range enough in the Ancient Sacrifices to the Sea. The navigators of antiquity, to whose imaginative ignorance the ocean seem ed peopled and beset with chimeras dire and supernatural agencies of all sorts, used often to sacrifice human lives to the mysterious water gods. It is regarded by tradition that Idome neus, king of Crete, vowed to sacrifice to Neptune the first living thing he met after escaping from a storm, and this happening to be his son he fulfilled his yow religiously. Medea nearly became a sacrifice during the return voy-and the morning air is comparatively clear. During the daylight the sun warms the soil, which heats the adjacent air, and the rising air currents carry up the dust as high as they go. Under certain conditions this layer of dust reaches higher and higher each day. During long, dry summers in India it reaches to a height of 7,000 feet, with a well defined upper surface that is higher in the daytime than at night. The reason why we have more of hazy weather in autumn is because there is then less horizontal wind and more rising air."

A Home Beyond the Grave.

Dan, a colored man, was employed as porter in a mercantile establishment in a town in Florida, and his duties required him to have the store swept by 7 o'clock in the morning. He had been late for many mornings, and on the sixteenth consecutive time his employer remonstrated with him thus:

"Dan, why can't you get here on time?"

"Well, Mr. L.," said Dan, "yer see, I live the other side of Mount Hermon cemetery and can't always get yere on time."
